

TEACHING21C

The big issues facing the teaching profession today

THE NEW FUTURE: TOWARDS 2030

Don't miss this opportunity to learn about future directions in education, discuss challenges in the context of your own school and design future professional learning.

Presenters include:

Valerie Hannon (Innovation Unit, UK), Tony Cook PSM (Commonwealth Dept of Education & Training), Dr Jan Owen AM (Foundation for Young Australians), Erin Watson-Lynn (Asialink Diplomacy), Dr Peter Goss (Grattan Institute), Professor Geoff Masters AO (ACER), Robert Randall (ACARA), Daniel Pinchas (AITSL), Andrew Smith (ESA), Professor Janet Clinton (Melbourne Graduate School of Education), Dr Sandra Milligan (Assessment Research Centre, MGSE), Graham Stoop (Education Council NZ), Sebastian Charnock (FYA), Dhakshy Sooriyakumaran (FYA), Anthony Mackay AM (CSE), Kathe Kirby (CSE)

Thursday 4 May 2017
8.45am - 3.30pm

The Arts Centre Melbourne

Register at www.cse.edu.au/21c

For further information about the Conference and any of our professional learning programs please call (03) 9654 1200, Freecall 1800 001 220 or email info@cse.edu.au.

PROGRAM
8:15am ARRIVAL & REGISTRATION
8:45am - 9:15am PANEL	Erin Watson-Lynn Director Diplomacy, Asialink at The University of Melbourne Panel Members from FYA: Sebastian Charnock, YLab Associate, FYA Dhakshy Sooriyakumaran, Director YLab, FYA Led by Kathe Kirby, Principal Consultant, CSE	MY GENERATION'S FUTURE What are the pressing challenges and opportunities that young Australians see for their personal and economic wellbeing into the future? What advice would they give teachers today about the capabilities all young Australians require to harness the opportunities - and minimise the risks - of the future?
9:15am - 9:50am KEYNOTE & Q&A	Dr Jan Owen AM CEO, Foundation for Young Australians Introduced by Kathe Kirby, Principal Consultant, CSE	THE NEW WORLD ORDER If education is about preparing our students for the future, what sort of future world are we educating our students for? Importantly, what capabilities do we already know young people will need from their education for future success?
9:50am - 10:30am KEYNOTE & Q&A	Valerie Hannon Co-Founder, Innovation Unit UK Introduced by Anthony Mackay AM, CEO, CSE	THE NEW LEARNER What does the future learner look like? How and where will they learn? Who will they learn from ... and what will they learn? What are the implications for schools and teachers of the changing learning landscape already coming our way?
10:30am - 10:50am MORNING TEA
10:50am - 11:30am PANEL	Tony Cook PSM Associate Secretary, Australian Government Department of Education & Training Rob Randall CEO, Australian Curriculum, Assessment and Reporting Authority (ACARA) Professor Geoff Masters AO CEO, Australian Council for Educational Research (ACER) Led by Anthony Mackay AM, CEO, CSE	THE NEW FUTURE: IMPLICATIONS FOR AUSTRALIAN SCHOOLS Our rapidly changing world points to major changes for the personal lives and work futures of every child at school in Australia today. What are the implications for Australian schooling as we plan now for those who will leave school in 2030? Is the current and planned national school reform agenda adequate to the challenges we face? How can we best encourage greater experimentation with alternative ways of thinking about teaching, learning, assessing and reporting in order to meet the needs of all learners?
11:30am - 12:30pm THREE INTERACTIVE ROUNDTABLES TO CHOOSE FROM
	NEW CAPABILITIES FOR 2030 Rob Randall CEO, ACARA What is happening internationally about identifying the capabilities required by the generation of students who will exit schooling in 2030? What does this mean for teaching in Australia today and for teacher preparation?	NEW LEARNER ENGAGEMENT Dr Peter Goss Education Lead, Grattan Institute What does new research tell us about learner engagement in Australian schools? What will need to change in teaching if we are to better engage learners today?
		NEW ASSESSMENT Dr Sandra Milligan Melbourne Graduate School of Education New paradigms are emerging in how education is both accessed and assessed. What are the international trends driving this? What do new approaches to assessment and new ways to access and deliver education mean for teachers and teaching in Australia today?
12:30pm - 1:15pm LUNCH
1:15pm - 1:45pm KEYNOTE	Professor Janet Clinton Melbourne Graduate School of Education Introduced by Kathe Kirby, Principal Consultant, CSE	EDUCATING NEW TEACHERS What capabilities will teachers require if they are to equip their students for the future? What capabilities are now most important in selecting new teachers? How is teacher education responding to the challenge of preparing a teacher workforce fit for the future?
1:45pm - 2:45pm THREE INTERACTIVE ROUNDTABLES TO CHOOSE FROM
	NEW INNOVATIVE LEARNING ENVIRONMENTS Valerie Hannon Co-Founder, Innovation Unit UK What innovative learning environments are emerging internationally? What can Australian teachers learn from these trends about schools, learners and teaching for current and future needs?	NEW EMPLOYABILITY ATTRIBUTES Andrew Smith CEO, Education Services Australia A changing landscape in formal (and informal) education means that extra-curricular experience and learning on the job is now more important than ever in building a portfolio of evidence that demonstrates the skills that employers value.
		FUTURE PROOFING NEW ZEALANDERS Barbara Ala'alatoa Chair, Education Council, New Zealand How is New Zealand working to equip learners for the future? How are they developing teachers and redesigning schools to meet the needs of the 2030 generation? Can Australia learn from this?
2:45pm - 3:15pm PANEL	Daniel Pinchas Manager – Quality Teaching, Australian Institute for Teaching and School Leadership (AITSL) Professor Janet Clinton Director – Centre for Program Evaluation, Melbourne Graduate School of Education Barbara Ala'alatoa Chair, Education Council, New Zealand Led by Anthony Mackay AM, CEO, CSE	THE NEW TEACHER What will the teacher of the future look like? What attributes, knowledge and capabilities do our teachers need to equip learners for the world today and into the future?
3:15pm CONFERENCE CLOSE		